

TC016 / Rank 17 - Active-Constructive Responding

TwoCard_Combined - v24

- Respond to someone's good news with visible interest, specific enthusiasm, and one follow-up that helps them relive or expand the positive moment.
- Notice the good news -> show real interest -> name a specific positive part -> ask one energising follow-up -> stay with their answer.
- That is excellent - what part feels best?
- The response becomes passive, dismissive, one-upping, or problem-focused before the person has had a chance to enjoy their own news.
- Treat good news as a thread to join, not a cue to change the subject.
