

Neighbour distinction

- Warmth / opener / attention family distinction: TC036 Contextual Opener is the right choice only when its specific cue is present.
- | Neighbouring technique | Use instead when | Difference |
- | TC010 Warm Presence | The live cue fits Warm Presence more cleanly. | Maintain a warm overall presence through attention, tone and timing. |
- | TC012 Full-Attention Signal | The live cue fits Full-Attention Signal more cleanly. | Signal full attention explicitly so the person knows they have your focus. |
- | TC024 Warm Opening | The live cue fits Warm Opening more cleanly. | Begin the exchange with warmth and ease. |
- Use TC036 when: Open from shared context or the immediate situation rather than a generic line.
- Autonomy/safety guard: Use this technique to clarify, respect and connect. Do not use it to corner, flatter, extract, pressure or override someone's agency.

A contextual opener works because it begins with shared reality. You do not need a clever first line when the room, task, timing or previous thread already gives you a br
