Agreement before disagreement

Combined field card: state the true agreement before the bounded disagreement.

1. Find the true yes

Agree only with what is genuinely accurate, shared or understandable.

2. Name the split

Use a clear bridge: where I differ, the part I separate, my concern is.

3. Make the dissent small enough to work with

Disagree with the method, conclusion, request or assumption - not the whole person.

4. Repair quickly

If it sounds like a setup, say so and restart with the real agreement.

5. Protect autonomy

Use this for clarity and respect, not pressure, extraction or control.
