

TC059 Energy-based topic switching

Close the low-energy thread; bridge to the live one.

Core move

- Notice live energy cues
- Close the old topic respectfully
- Bridge to a more useful thread
- Offer the switch as a choice
- Calibrate and repair if needed

Use when

- Topic has reached closure
- Conversation is circling
- Another thread creates detail, speed, or curiosity
- A meeting needs movement to decision

Minimum viable move

“That may be enough on this for now. Want to switch gears?”

Do not use when

- Emotion or risk is live
- Accountability is unresolved
- The person asked to stay with it
- You only want relief from discomfort

Autonomy rule: switch to protect usefulness, not to avoid emotion, accountability, or the other person’s concern.
