

THE MOVE

Listen: "I want to understand this from your side. What is the part people keep missing?" -> Empathise: "Given that, I can see why this feels risky / insulting / exhausting." -> Agree: "I agree you should have a real say in what happens next...."

START HERE

Say "I want to understand your side before I respond - what matters most to you here?", reflect it back, name one honest thing you agree with, then ask "Would you be open to working out one next step together?"

SAY THIS

Listen openers	"I want to get your version before I respond."
Empathise	"That sounds exhausting to keep defending."
Agree	"I agree that you should have a say in what happens next."
Partner	"Would you be willing to work out one step together?"
Work and meetings	"Before I propose anything, I want to understand the constraint you're protecting."
High pressure and sa...	"I'm not here to corner you. I do need us to keep this safe."

AVOID

- Immediate safety risk that requires emergency action
- You are using the method to hide pressure, sales intent, or coercion
- You cannot find any honest point of agreement

REMEMBER

Don't try to make them leap. You LEAP first.
